SUNDAY MORNING DAILY NEWS, DAYTONA, FLORIDA, SUNDAY, JAN. 2, 1921.

PRESIDENT EXPECTED TO SEND TWO MESSAGES TO CONGRESS ON MONDAY

WILL VETO MEASURE TO REVIVE THE WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—The president expected to send two messages to the senate Monday it was learned at the White House tonight. The first, in actual importance, is expected to be a message vetoing the joint resolution reviving the War Finance Corporation. This measure has already been prepared for his signature, it is understood and the president has vetoed the measure on the grounds that a revival of the War Finance Corporation would not be a sound policy for the government, declaring it would be used as a war machine to meet peace conditions and would entail drafts upon the treasury.

The second message, according to excellent authority, will be a personal one addressed to the senate, in which the president will admit that he has mislaid the Smoot-Reavis joint resolution, providing for re-organization of the government departments under direction of a committee composed of three members, each of the house and senate respectively.

The resolution became a law automatically on December 29 because the president was unable to find it. It was stated authoritatively at the

EMERGENCY TARIFF IS TO BE FIRST BUSINESS FOR SENATE THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—With Senator Penrose personally in charge of the fight over emergency tariff legislation, the senate will usher in the new year. The finance committee will meet Monday or Tuesday to consider a bill which was passed by the house, placing an embargo upon importation of many commodities. Senators freely predicted today that the bill will never get out of the committee. Penrose, chairman of the committee, has expressed disapproval of the measure. Democratic members of the committee oppose it.

Both supporters and opponents of the bill have been hearing from abroad as well as from American business men that enactment of such legislation, while it might help certain parties, would inevitably react against American business by closing the foreign markets, business men told senators.

White House today that the president signified his intention of signing the resolution but when he called for it, it could not be found. Therefore the president must address a message to congress, admitting the lost resolution, and asking for another expression of opinion.

Jury Holds No One Responsible in Case of Shooting of Grady Hames; Case Brought to Close

Sister of Dead Boy Names Some in Testimony

(International News Service.)

The coroner's jury selected to name, if possible, the murderer or murderers of Grady Hames, last Sunday evening at Daytona Beach on Saturday brought in a verdict failing to state the names of the assailants of the young man, and the case was brought to a close Saturday afternoon, after a number of important witnesses had testified on the case.

The testimony of several witnesses, particularly that of Miss Lena Hames, sister of the dead man, was spectacular in the extreme in that she mentioned a number of local men as being concerned in the trouble which led to the death of her brother, but the jury failed to hold anyone in connection with the case.

The verdict was returned by the jury as follows:

"Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 1, 1921.
"On or about 10:30 p. m. December 26th, 1920, Grady Hames met his death by felony from gun shot wounds inflicted by unknown parties. He was found in front of the Ohio House, Daytona Beach, So. say we all.

(Signed) FRANK BRADLEY, Foreman.

G. L. JOHNSON,
E. A. BRANCH,
GUY G. AILEY,
JAMES B. HANEY."

At 10:30 o'clock yesterday (Saturday) morning the coroner's inquest into the cause of the death of Grady Hames, son of Arthur Hames, who was shot three times last Sunday night and who died at 7:49 o'clock last Monday morning, was resumed before Coroner R. L. Seiden. States Attorney David Sholtz was present and directed the examination. Of the family of the dead boy, those present were his father Arthur Hames, who was brought over by the sheriff from Deland, his brother from Marietta, and sister Lena, who was present when he was killed, and his aunt Mrs. R. D. Campbell of Birmingham, Ala., sister of the father. Among other county officials present were Judge J. Lee McCrory, Sheriff Lee Morris, former Judge Isaac A. Stewart and Attorney Tom Stewart, together with others.

Lena Hames, sister of the dead boy, was the first witness sworn. She testified as follows:

"We all had supper the night Grady was killed and with us for supper we had Dewey Carroll and Warren Wilcox. Warren suggested we go after Virginia Kurtz and go home with her and Grady. They said they were not going home. We stayed awhile with them and then came home. Warren left us at the door. Papa and I were sitting in the dining room. Father soon went to bed. He was in bed about 15 minutes when Grady knocked on the door. Papa said 'who is that, you Grady?' He said 'yes, papa said, 'wait I will find the light.' He then said 'I can't find the light' so I said I would find it. So when I reached to turn on the light some one asked, 'Is this where Mr. Hames lives?' Grady said, 'some one wants to see you.' When papa walked out of the room the big fellow introduced himself to him and papa said 'wait till I get my shoes on and I will talk to you.' Papa walked out the door and I walked out in front of him. He said, 'get the gun if you need any help.' He handed me the door key to the other room. I walked out and started the big man in the face. I said to him 'Isn't it windy?' He made no reply. I was afraid of papa starting for the other door. The big fellow grabbed papa and the little fellow grabbed Grady. Grady grabbed the little fellow by the back of the neck telling him he knew him.

Grady cursed at the little fellow and called his name. I don't know what name he called him. He swung Grady from him while the big fellow was scuffling with papa. I ran down the hall hollering for help. When I looked back at Grady the little fellow was shooting. I and three kids ran into him. By that time they had been and were gone. They dared me to go to the door. As quick as they got out of the way I ran to the door. Grady was holding his side. 'Kill them Lena if you can,' he said. 'I got them gun papa told me to and I ran out and fired three shots at the car.

came back to my brother and he said, 'Oh God, I told you and Virginia that they said they would have them kill me tonight. My dying brother told me this. I want you to understand I did not kill my brother and I am perfectly innocent and everything they accuse me of. The big man was a big heavy-set fellow, was tall, he was real nice looking.

Described Man.
He had on a dark suit and light hat. The little fellow had on a sweater and a dark cap. His pants were dark. I could not get a look at his face as he pulled his cap over it. I had seen the big man here before. Am not sure I have seen him since. He had on same clothes night of murder as he did first time I saw him here. It was about 10:30 o'clock the crime occurred.

Bill Schreck came in to our house Sunday morning and asked where Grady was, as he had not come to work. I said 'Bill we almost had a rough house here last night.' He said 'how was that, Lena?' I said 'well, Dewey Carroll and Warren Wilcox have taken up that affair they had about papa.' Red went down and asked Jones what he wanted with him? He said for Red. He said 'well, I am a friend of you. I want you to stay away from any of the Hames or the house. So he took it up and told him which side he was on. He came back home and told Warren. And I said Jones said 'So we went into the room where Mrs. Kurtz and Jack Harris were. I said to Jack 'I want to speak to you and Warren.' Papa said 'speak here.' I said 'I want you to tell Warren who were the two fellows that overheard the conversation between him and I. He said, 'well, I am not going to tell any names. Warren said he had to tell me why did they take papa out the first time? Jack said 'Hames you remember going across the street for three loaves of bread, and I said good morning to you.' Papa said, 'yes, I saw you and Quinn sitting in the car.' He said, 'yes, this fellow said to me, 'I know why Hames was beat the first time.' He said, 'Why?' He said 'through jealousy of Lena, because you would not separate her and Warren from going together.' He said, 'if I were you, Mr. Hames, and Lena that I would go down and apologize to V. C. Grant for blaming her because he had to do this.' Grady speaks up and said, 'I am going to see into this now. They went outside and Jack Harris, Mrs. Kurtz Harris, Virginia and Grady leave. Mr. Hanes and Warren and Red came back in the room and stayed about five minutes and left. On Sunday morning my baby was playing in the yard and Mary Livingston walks out and fired a pitcher of water down on the baby's head. Mary came down and as she did Grady came and told him what Bill Schreck said. So he goes down and jumps on Jones. When he comes back I said 'old Jones deny it Grady?' He said 'he said to me, 'I want to get you out about 10:30. They can get you if you and Lena don't get off this before he said, 'You will have to kill me before you get me off.

Would Have to Kill Him.
He says, 'well, we can kill you tonight.' So Grady says 'You will sure have to do it. He came back home and told me those words that Jones said. The words Bill Schreck told me. I said Grady said, 'Bill Schreck said, 'He did all he could to get you out of this town. He said he had never seen anything wrong at my house. Lena the big fellow with Jack Harris last Thursday night a week ago. I saw them across the street with this Crowell and Mary Livingston. I saw them watching me, but I did not know why then. I did not know then that other men had taken papa out before.

V. C. Grant, the man who had papa in the car was standing on the drug store corner. I wondered then where was papa and the two women he came to get papa to talk to Grant did not tell me anything. I was 9:30 at night when I saw them. It was about that time we met Grant and at that time I did not know they took papa out. When I saw Grant afterwards he made me think he told me about it. The fellow who scuffled with Grady was rather a small fellow. Jones was the man that was scuffling with my brother.

Jones Denies Story.
W. C. Jones testified 'I had no conversation on Christmas day with Grady Hames and did not say what you say tonight. On Sunday noon I met him at steps as I came out from lunch and he asked me why I had said that the Ku Klux would not stay in town. I said I had made no such statement and I had never given such a thing a thought. Had no other conversation with him that day. Never told him 'you will get you tonight.' I don't recollect that I told Bill Schreck, 'the Hames better get out of town.' In the store one day something came up about the Hames affair and I told Mr. Schreck that it would be better for them to leave. I am not certain whether I said I would leave or it would be better for him to leave. I asked Red Carroll not to talk too much about the Hames matter. Someone had said Red had taken quite a bit of stock in Hames and had quite a little to say about me. I asked Jim Hanes some two or three days before to tell Red I wanted to see him. Did not tell him I was a friend and wanted him to stay away from Hames. Told him I was a pretty good friend of his and did not want him to talk too much.

Asleep at Time.
"I was on the third floor of the Ohio house at the time of the shooting Sunday night. I was in bed. I got up and ran out. Stood there for a minute or two and went back to my room and dressed. I went to second floor. Mrs. Livingston told me to come there. I stayed around there with her the rest of the evening. Tuesday evening prior to the killing I was in the store until closing time about 10:30. Had no trouble with any of the Hames family during the month previous. Did not tell Grady you need not get so hot about it for they can get you if you don't get off this beach. Grady did not tell me they will have to kill me to get me off and I did not tell him 'we could get him tonight, and Grady did not say, 'you will surely have to do it.' I had no talk with him that afternoon.

Grant Tells of Kidnapping.
V. C. Grant testified 'Remember killing of Grady Hames. Know nothing of killing. I was in Jacksonville. Went there on Saturday before. Went by auto, came back Monday afternoon. Wife and children were with me. Can give no information of killing unless you want to know about Tuesday night of the week previous. That night I walked down Main street about 8:30 as I do most every night, stood on corner by Casino for a few minutes. Walked across to north side of Main street at southeast corner of Seaside Inn. While standing there two women came up whom I do not know and asked me if I knew Mr. Hames? I said, 'yes. Asked me if I knew where he was. I said, 'no. They asked me if I would try and find him. I went across to the Ohio House and went up the first flight of stairs. Came out and told women I did not see anything of Mr. Hames. In fact I was not trying to find Hames but was in the Ohio House and told me to go and tell him they wanted to see him and they would walk on down toward the (Clarendon hotel and for us to come up that way. I kept Hames across the street from the Ohio House with his daughter. I passed by. Hanes said 'Hello, what are you doing here?' I said 'just coming around.' I motioned for him to come back where I was. He came back and I told him a couple of women were looking for him. He said 'all right, let's go. He turned to his daughter and said, 'go on over to the station and I will be back in a few minutes. We walked across Atlantic avenue to the beach side before we had come more than a block I saw two men get out of a car. Mr. Hanes said there is waste I have to find. He pulled his knife out of his pocket and opened it.

Pulled Gun on Him.
One of the men that was in the car stepped up to Hanes and asked, 'Is your name Hanes?' Hanes said, 'yes.' The two men grabbed him at that time and threw him in the car. They stepped on the running board of the car. I reached up and pulled them off the running board. I said 'fellow, this is no way to do a man.' And as I said this one man threw a gun in my face and said, 'You get away from here and at that time two more guys drew their guns and the car went off. As I left to come back and get word from a woman stepped up and said, 'what is the matter here?' One of the men told me before they started to keep my damned mouth shut.

"I told the women I did not know what was the matter. About that time another car came along filled with men. They said you keep your damned mouth shut of we will get you. About that time Emmett Sumner came along and I told him what had happened. We went to hunt Mr. Young the marshal in about 20 minutes we found Young and told him what had happened.

DENMAN TAKES SLAP AT BRITISH WHO ARE NOW ASKING LOAN RENEWAL

LORD CHALMERS NOW ON HIS WAY HERE TO ASK RENEWAL OF LOAN

(International News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Lord Chalmers, representative of the British government left for America today, where he will discuss with officials of the United States government the funding of British loans made by the United States.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Almost on the eve of the arrival in this country of Lord Chalmers of the British treasury, to negotiate an extension of time in payment of the British huge debt to the United States, William Denman of California, former chairman of the United States Shipping Board, tonight addressed a letter to every member of congress inviting their attention to circumstances surrounding the original British loan and charging that it was obtained by Arthur Balfour through "duplicitous and deception."

Denman was one of the American negotiators with the British mission when it came to America in 1917. In the letter tonight he endorsed a renewal of the loan but suggests it should be renewed with "that naive trustfulness which so intensifies the shock of the disclosure of its duplicity."

The letter says: "In the spring of 1917 the Balfour mission to the United States secured for Great Britain a loan of upwards of four billion dollars. It was a willing transaction between liberal America and liberal Britain. Had the deceptions used in procuring it been known to our government, the consideration of the loan probably would have had less of good will and more of substantial security for our national interest in the Pacific."

"Great Britain is now asking to renew this loan and substitute distant payment notes, for its maturing obligations. This means a timely opportunity to point out a typical case of that duplicity and lack of candor in Britain's foreign representatives which have placed a barrier between the liberals of both countries."

"Mr. Balfour arranged for these moneys in the month of May, 1917. His protestations of deep friendship for the interest of the United States filled our press and warmed his auditors in the halls of congress and the tables where our hospitality was extended to him. While he talked, the ink was hardly dry on the last three notes constituting the so-called credit. Shanting trestles, which from a naval standpoint destroyed the island of Guam, probably our most valuable naval base in the Pacific."

"Japan, our rival then was by agreement with Great Britain, guaranteed to be in possession of the Marshall group, which placed an insurmountable barrier between us and the North Asiatic coast and the Japanese islands. Great Britain's price for this was British control of islands in the Pacific."

Subscriptions to the Baseball Fund Reach Fine Total of $6,730.50 Assuring Team

By the subscribing of a fund totaling $6,730.50 at this time, Daytona baseball fans, and those of the Triple Cities have made possible the membership of the Daytona Islanders in the Florida State league for the second season, the large total subscribed making possible the carrying of a local team during the summer of 1921. The response to the call for funds has been most pleasing to the baseball association, the final canvass for funds having been carried on by Secretary S. B. Crosby and his committee, who deserve great credit for having secured the large sum for the team.

The completion of the subscription fund now assures the securing of Johnny Martin, of Plainfield, N. J., who played shortstop for Atlanta, in the Southern league last year, as manager of the Islanders for this year. Martin is now attempting to get his transfer from St. Paul to Daytona, and it is believed that everything will go smooth in securing the crack player and manager to guide the locals through the summer of 1921 toward a pennant for the Islander town. Martin was for two years manager of the St. Paul team in the American association, and is their property. His many years' experience as manager, and the fact that he is in his prime as a player, assures a good mentor for the team this year.

Following is the list of names of those who subscribed to the fund, making baseball possible in Daytona this summer, and the amount, which totals $6,730.50, with other names and amounts to be added, which have not been reported as yet:

MORE HOUSES, MORE HOMES, THE NEED. BUY OR BUILD NOW, THE REMEDY

The leading business men and prominent citizens of this community have joined hands in the launching of a "Buy or Build Now" campaign through the columns of the DAILY NEWS. In this issue appears the first of the series of a two-page spread which will be published each Sunday in the DAILY NEWS.

Not only is the need great for "More Houses and More Homes," but the time is ripe to commercialize the recognized truth that "This is the best place in the United States to live the year round." One needs but to ask those who have been in all parts of the world. They are the biggest boosters we have.

For some four hundred years Florida was used for scarcely more than a gateway: now well-marked trails lead to whatever the traveler may most desire. Then its early explorers passed through and beyond in search of gold to carry back across the seas; now thousands of people pour into Florida seeking a place to employ their labor, their talent, their money, on above all else, a place to call home.

Opportunity here does not stop with the knocking at a man's door. She clamors at every crack and crevice, beckons at every turn of the road, and waits beside him wherever he goes. With all the State's limitless resources, there is no section where scenery joins with climate in contributing so generously to the health and joy of its people. Today's DAILY NEWS presents some of the opportunities open to the 1921 seeker after wealth in on form or another.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—The report of Lord Chalmers, financial representative of Great Britain to the United States, is for the purpose of entering into a loan agreement on the findings of the loan of the United States to night tonight. The general agreement for financing the loan has been made as Secretary Houston announced several days ago. The final signature of the agreement, however, makes it necessary for a detailed arrangement for interest rates, a matter which as yet has not been settled. The agreement as it now stands calls for an exchange of demand notes in the amount of about five million dollars which the government will draw from its Treasury in thirty-year obligations. Financial representatives of other nations invited to the United States expected to join in the conference with Lord Chamberlain to discuss

"The Lost Princess" Delights Large Audience with Acting and Singing That Was Superb

Perfect in every detail, with superb acting and singing which would be a credit to professionals, more than 200 local people took part in the operetta, "The Lost Princess," at the Auditorium New Year's Eve, which was pronounced by the huge audience as by far the best performance of its kind ever staged in the Triple Cities.

Individual praise is unfair to the many taking part, all of whom took their parts to perfection, but to Mrs. Hortense Reynolds, the director of the play, goes the highest praise for the results of her endeavors to train such a large number of amateurs and to train them to the high state of perfection which they showed in giving the play. The work of direction was nothing short of marvelous, and showed patience and insight into training of children and adults alike, which brings to Mrs. Reynolds the highest regard for her ability possible to give.

The delightful setting of the play, which afforded an opportunity for many gorgeous costumes, amusing situations, and the art of submerging one's self into the characters which everyone came to love in younger days, those of the nursery rhymes, centered around the love affair of Bo Peep, played by Miss Marian Brewster, and Jack Goose, played by Wellington Shaw. Both need no introduction to local audiences, as both have, on previous occasions, shown their ability, not only at acting but by highly cultivated voices. As the hero and heroine of the play they commanded the center of the stage during the greater part of the evening. Their character parts showed deep insight into the depicting of the characters which they represented, and their musical numbers were worthy of stars of the greatest magnitude.

Mother Goose, perfectly portrayed by Mrs. C. A. Randall, was the "heavy" part of the play, she having the greater part of the speaking parts and several opportunities to give the audience delightful songs, which were one of the many features of the entertainment.

The "Old Woman in the Shoe," one of the hardest characters to interpret, was superbly carried through by Miss Mary Brennan, an adept at character acting, her part being perfect in every detail. Lord Penelope and Lord Dugan, characterized by Dick Niven and Lyle Ramsey, respectively, were comedy parts which the two named gentlemen carried off in a most able manner. "Me, too," Ramsey had every appearance of having been addressed as "Me Lord," as a daily occurrence. Their failure to win the Princess was a matter of deep regret to themselves.

King Cole, masterfully portrayed by James Heaton, manager of the Auditorium course, and the Queen of Hearts, played by Mrs. Wharton, showed an insight into the ability of personages to fit the part to perfection. The director to pick characters and to train them to the high state of perfection which they showed in giving the play. The work of direction was nothing short of marvelous, and showed patience and insight into training of children and adults alike, which brings to Mrs. Reynolds the highest regard for her ability possible to give.

The large cast of Males in the Garden, of Cooks, Children of the Old Woman, Mary Contraries, Neighbors, Chicks, Marigolds, Grape Maidens and Herbsmen each and every one took their parts in a manner which reflected great credit upon themselves as well as their director.

To Miss Catherine Hotchkiss, who accompanied the musicians, and to the local orchestra also must go great praise for the ability which they displayed in their large part in the success of the entertainment.

The Auditorium management is to be congratulated upon the great success which the staging of "The Lost Princess" proved to be. It was by far the most superb offering in the Triple Cities ever given. To each and everyone who lent his or her assistance to the enterprise is due great praise for the community.

Those who were unable to see "The Lost Princess" on Friday evening cannot well afford to miss the second performance at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, January 4. It takes one back to the time when fairies and Landlord C. E. Bostwick of the Daytona Beach Hotel is home from a week's business trip to Brunswick, Ga., where he has another large hotel. Mr. Bostwick is a keen observer of business conditions and he says every sort of industry in that state is feeling the slump in the cotton market. He thinks the cotton raising section of the country has been hard-hit by the present financial conditions than any other. He expects that the construction of the big steel and cement bridge across the Altamaha river, between Brunswick and Barren, is progressing rapidly. It is over six miles long. Mr. Bostwick is a strong believer in free bridges. His business will call him back to Brunswick within a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Clappen and family are among the recent arrivals at the Dixie hotel.

Rev. John A. Ryan Will Open Community Forum Programme This Afternoon at Auditorium

This afternoon at 3 o'clock the first open forum lecture of the season will be delivered by Rev. John A. Ryan, a noted Catholic orator of international reputation. Community singing will commence at 2:45 p. m.

He will address his audience on the subject, "Industrial Democracy Versus Industrial Autocracy." He has delivered this lecture in most of the principal cities of the east, and the Baltimore Sun gives the following extended notice of Father Ryan's meeting:

"At two crowded meetings in Hollywood Street theater and in the Madison Avenue Temple the Rev. John A. Ryan, the Catholic priest who is one of the noted authorities on the 'minimum wage' and other social reform problems, was heard by clergymen, manufacturers, merchants, Socialists and laborers."

"His theme was general social reform in the country. He took occasion to denounce Socialism as the greatest obstacle in the way of social reform, and remarked that he did not like the movement also because every great leader in it was an unbeliever in God."

"Among his objections to Socialism was that the majority of its proposed principles abounded throughout the land, when dreams would come true if one but believed, and thereby adds enjoyment to the old as well as the young."

REST ROOM FOR TOURISTS MAY BE ESTABLISHED

It is believed as a result of the recent agitation among the tourists for some conveniences for their comfort and entertainment they will be granted some concessions either by the council or by some other route.

It would seem from the street talk that their request for comfort stations has met with popular favor. There evidently is no answer to a demand for human necessities except to grant it, and about everyone is so expressing himself.

There is also a well defined movement on foot and backed by earnest and substantial friends of the town to provide the tourists with a comfortable waiting room, and it is believed that the generous offer of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bishop of the Dixie hotel. This afternoon Attorney H. A. Horn had a conference with Mrs. Bishop regarding the matter and it is hoped something definite will come of it.

It has been suggested that permanent arrangements be made for the Dixie lobby; that it be provided with a telephone for the free use of all visitors, with writing tables and chairs and with plenty of writing stationery containing attractive and appropriate advertising matter for these beach resorts—letterheads and envelopes—and made absolutely free to the tourists. It is the plan to make every tourist feel as if he is at other resorts, that he is absolutely welcome to use these things freely.

It is argued that all these things will, in comparison to many big things that are being talked about only, will cost but little in the aggregate; that they will bring much comfort and satisfaction to the visitors, who, it must be conceded, constitute an important asset of any resort town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are entirely willing to do their part at a very nominal cost and it is argued all these little requests are within the reach of the community.

There will be a regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at the residence of Mrs. Stephen Smith at 227 Peninsula drive, Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are invited.

Lenora Sparkes, the charming soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, will open the regular 24 number-entertainment course at the Auditorium on Friday evening, January 7.

Platform Manager James Heaton feels well paid for his efforts in securing the talent of this course, in that he was able to obtain the services of so popular and finished an artist as Miss Sparkes for the introductory number.

Before England was plunged into war in 1914 it was the custom of Lenora Sparkes, the operatic prima donna, to sing at the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, London, together with Caruso, Melba, Destinn, Tetrazzini, Martinelli and other great stars, after the Metropolitan season in New York had closed. With the coming of war opera at Covent Garden was suspended for five years, but this did not deter Miss Sparkes from defying the deadly submarines in crossing the Atlantic to give her services for another cause—that of singing for the wounded in the hospitals of England and France.

"I shall never forget that first day," said the soprano recently when recounting some of her experiences. "It was shortly after the war began and only a day or so after the first wounded had arrived in London. As I entered the ward there on a cot lay a youth, hardly more than 18, writhing in agony; next to him was a comrade whose body was crushed, and only a spark of life left in him. Over in a corner I saw a third chap who had been once strong and vigorous and brave, but who was now paralyzed and unable to move a finger. I was almost overcome with emotion, and my throat seemed to close, but at last I began to sing. 'My Little Tiny House in the West.' And as I sang I watched them. Soon a ghost of a smile crept over the face of the paralyzed. The boy in the cot nearest me leaned far over, seemingly forgetful of the pain the exertion caused him, and for a few minutes at least he seemed to forget that only a short time before he had been so rebellious and had expressed regret that he had not been left to die unattended on the battlefield. That first visit brought home to me as never before the power of song and the forgetfulness that always can bring to those in pain. After that I gave to those poor boys every hour that I could spare and nothing that I have ever done has given me greater satisfaction."

The last summer Miss Sparkes spent in England again and she sang on many occasions for the blind-soldiers at St. Dunstan's and in addition gave a benefit recital which netted several pounds for the needs of the home.

Thursday afternoon and Friday morning people about the beach in front of the Seaside Inn hotel have seen Miss Sparkes getting into a large cab or wreckage. It proved to be the cabin portion of a large boat, and the only identifying mark it bore were the letters that had been cut in on one side—A. K. C. It was almost entirely covered with moss and seaweed and had every appearance of having been adrift for a long time.

Mrs. Mithorne Tompkins of New York City, who has been spending her time at the various hotels for several days, has found permanent quarters at 224 Hollywood avenue. Her daughter, Miss A. N. Tompkins, who has been with her, has returned to her home. This is Mrs. Tompkins fifth season at the beach and she says she is always delighted with her stay here.

Real Estate Best Investment IN DAYTONA ESPECIALLY

In October I happened to talk to a Real Estate man from Louisville, Ky., and mentioned to him that Daytona is the most logical and best place for real estate investments, stating to him that Daytona is still "on the ground floor." He replied: "You are wrong, my boy; Daytona has not emerged from the basement as yet, but just as soon as she does come out onto the 'ground floor,' there is nothing to stop the growth of Daytona. Just watch her smoke. I have never seen anything with brighter prospects than Daytona!"

I am sure that gentleman was right. Come in and let me explain it to you. See

PRINCE GEORGE

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Martin of Hourhill, Mass., arrived Friday at the Prince George hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooper, Miss Margaret Guilfoyle and Miss Anna F. Guilfoyle, Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Weinberger, all of New York City, also arrived on Friday.

Miss L. W. St. Augustine has been in Daytona during the week and was at the Prince George.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradley and Mrs. D. M. Goodridge and Miss A. H. Hamilton, from one of the pleasant visiting parties at the Prince George. They are all from New York City, where Mr. Bradley is a broker and well known man of affairs in the busy section of the city. They are all enjoying to the fullest the many attractions offered by the Triple Cities. They motored through from New York, arriving in Daytona on the 28th, and after a few days spent here will continue their motor trip through the state, visiting the many resorts and places of interest and at their leisure will return to the Prince George and remain there for the balance of the season. Among the interesting trips that they have enjoyed since their arrival is the one up the Tomoka river, which trip they took Friday. They returned feeling that they had spent a most enjoyable day, and they all expressed themselves as delighted with Daytona and the surroundings.

Banta Hilyard Home

Another welcome guest at the Prince George this holiday season is S. Banta Hilyard, younger son of Proprietor and Mrs. W. W. Hilyard. He is a student at Lawrenceville college in New Jersey, taking a course preparatory to his entrance to Princeton. He will return to his school duties early in the week. He is a bright and interesting young man and is enjoying his college life and has had a very happy holiday season at home with his parents and many friends among the younger social set of Daytona.

Dr. and Mrs. M. H. Hassenmiller of West Baden, Ind., arrived at the Prince George Thursday night.

Dr. Hassenmiller in his profession has a prominence that extends not only throughout his state, but in the medical world of the entire country he is considered an authority. He has traveled extensively and has visited many foreign countries, spending his winters sometimes in Los Angeles, sometimes in Honolulu and in South America.

For 21 years Dr. Hassenmiller has been the house physician at the famous West Baden Springs hotel in West Baden, Ind. This is one of the most famous health resorts in the world, and every year prominent people from all over this country and Europe visit these springs in search of health and pleasure.

The original hotel building burned about 20 years ago and has been replaced by one of the most modern and attractive buildings to be found anywhere, the architectural beauty of which attracts widespread attention. The most notable part of the building is the dome. The building was constructed by the late Lee W. St. Clair, owner and proprietor, until the time of his death. The dome of the building he patterned after the famous dome of St. Peter's in Rome, and in this modern day it is considered by many to be even more wonderful. The dome of St. Peter's has the support of smaller domes and pillars, while the one at West Baden is 200 feet in diameter and is entirely unsupported an architectural feat that has attracted the attention of builders and architects everywhere. The interior of the dome is ornamented with tropical trees and flowers. The hotel building is absolutely fireproof and has 708 rooms and 35 parlors. The season there is not at its height until about the middle of February.

Dr. and Mrs. Hassenmiller will remain at the Prince George to await the arrival of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. John Hanousek, of Antioch, Wis., who delayed their trip South until after the holiday season, as their children who are at college were coming to the yuletide vacation.

Soon after the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Hanousek they, with Dr. and Mrs. Hassenmiller, will make an extended trip through Florida, visiting Palm Beach, Miami and other places of interest, after which they will return to the Prince George, where Mr. and Mrs. Hanousek will spend the remainder of the season and Dr. and Mrs. Hassenmiller will stay until about the middle of February, when they will return to West Baden, where the doctor will be needed to look after the physical welfare of many people who will be, by that time, at the big hotel.

To a News representative Dr. Hassenmiller expressed great admiration for the Triple Cities and especially for the marvelous beach. He said:

"I must admit that I did not know that they actually drove on the sands of this beach. In all my travels I have never seen anything like it. I had thought that the Waikiki beach of Honolulu was the most wonderful in the world. Of course, as a bathing beach few, if any, excel it, but the hard, beautiful driveway of the Daytona Beach was a surprise to me."

Dr. Hassenmiller visited Florida about 14 years ago and this is his first visit since that time. This is Mrs. Hassenmiller's first Florida trip.

Dr. Hassenmiller is vice president of the West Baden National bank, and when asked his opinion regarding the business unrest of the country, he said:

"The bank in West Baden has never been in better condition than it is today. However, we are moving cautiously and feeling our way carefully. Bankers everywhere are doing this, and for this and the great support and aid of the Federal Reserve is sure to prevent any great panic along banking lines. Banks, as a rule, were never safer or more deserving of confidence than they are now. Bankers were prepared for the conditions that were bound to follow the war and are accordingly well protected."

In politics Dr. Hassenmiller is a Democrat, but speaking of the political situation, he said:

"I am not a politician. My time has been engrossed with my profession, but naturally I have been so situated in West Baden that I have met and become acquainted with many men who are helping to shape the affairs of the nation. President Wilson has had a most trying administration, and I believe he has always done the best he could and had the interest of the country and his fellowmen at heart. However, although I am a Democrat in politics, I believed a change in administration was the best thing for the country at this time. I have great faith in President-elect Harding and the administration of which he will be the head."

Believes Prohibition Good Thing

Regarding prohibition Dr. Hassenmiller said:

"I believe prohibition is the best thing that ever came to the country. I do not believe in robbing any person of their rights or liberty, but in my profession I have seen so much of the evil brought about by strong drink that I cannot but be glad of any reform that tends to its banishment. I know the results in a financial and business way have been good. In West Baden men who were absolutely without credit before the prohibition law was enacted are now respectable and reliable citizens, with bank accounts and credit for any amount they might ask. These same men before the prohibition enactment would start for their homes Saturday night with their pay envelopes in their pockets, stop at a saloon expecting just to meet a few pals and take a glass of beer, and usually before leaving the saloon there would be drinking and treating again and again until the victims would leave the place minus their week's wages. Of course, were they the only ones to suffer it would be a different story. But this traffic brought untold suffering upon helpless wives and little ones, and the innocent were made to suffer most."

Both Dr. and Mrs. Hassenmiller believe in equal suffrage and that the ballot in the hands of the women of the country will mean the betterment of conditions.

Tom Taggart, Democratic leader and late candidate for the United States senate from Indiana, is a personal friend of Dr. Hassenmiller and is one of the owners of the big hotel at French Lick, Ind., located but a few miles from West Baden, and like that place a famous health resort. Of him the doctor said:

"Of course Mr. Taggart is a great leader in politics and he naturally has many friends and also enemies, the latter fighting him every step of the way. He made a good fight for the senate, but was defeated by James Watson."

Dr. Hassenmiller said that he believed that when President Woodrow Wilson was again in private life and with sufficient time to become rested from the terrible burdens that his stormy administration had put upon him, that he would fully regain his health. He said he did not believe that his trouble was of such a nature that it was apt to return.

Dr. and Mrs. Hassenmiller spend

PRINCESS ISSENA

Among the very interesting guests at the Princess Isseena this season is Mrs. H. L. Chapman of Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Chapman made the trip from Columbus in her car, accompanied only by her maid and a chauffeur. They found the roads very bad and were eleven days in making the trip and covered 1,300 miles. It was a very hard journey and Mrs. Chapman was thoroughly fatigued when she reached Seabreeze.

For 40 years Mrs. Chapman has been spending her winters in Florida, making her first trip in 1880, when there was no railroad south of Jacksonville and the trip from that point was made by boat. There was several of these small boats running on the rivers and great rivalry among them. In those early days, with her husband, she used to visit Sanford when the old Sanford House was the leading hotel there and also Palatka in the days when the Old Putnam hotel was considered one of the finest hotels in the state. While she has at other times been in the Triple Cities, this is the first time that she has been here to spend an entire season.

Mrs. Chapman is the daughter of the late A. N. Benton, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Port Allegany, McKean county, Pennsylvania. Mr. Benton was known throughout the states a successful and benevolent business man. The Benton home in Port Allegany has for many years been one of the show places of that beautiful mountain town. After her marriage Mrs. Chapman made frequent visits to the old home, but with the passing of the years so many changes came and as her children grew up the place did not hold the same interest for them as for her, and it has now been some time since she has visited there. Recently she gave her fine old homestead, consisting of her mansion and three acres of ground, right in the best section of Port Allegany, to the county to be converted into a home for needy children. Surely a beautiful philanthropy and a splendid use to which to put the beloved old home, surrounded by so many beautiful memories.

Mrs. Chapman finds the Princess Isseena an ideal place in which to spend the winter months, and its home-like surroundings are very much to her liking. She has only words of praise for the Triple Cities and the matchless climate.

their summers at Pickeral Lake, Wis., where they and also their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Hanousek, have summer homes, and so they are neighbors as well as friends. This is a delightful spot in the lake region of Wisconsin. Located within a small radius and joined each with the other are four beautiful little bodies of water—Pickeral Lake, Sand Lake, Crane Lake and Lost Lake. Here the fishing and bathing and boating is unexcelled and here these two congenial families repair in June and remain until September.

Choose

Thy of life times are ahead of the Triple Crown. Centuries have, as well as other titles, the name of the many people who want to build, but will not until we are brought to a reasonable rule and a PROPER DAY'S WORK given. If these conditions are complied with every day and full work pay rule are secured.

Let present conditions prevail and life times in the immediate future, so the greatest methods are securing completion.

Remember! A reaction of building built the workmen want, the Contractor must and the Owner least.

Think It Over!
